Section VI. CHALLENGING THE DECISIONS OF THE NATIONAL BANK OF UKRAINE

Article 79. Challenging the NBU Decisions

{A certain provision of Article 79 part one, namely, "that are subject to supervision by the NBU" has been acknowledged to be in violation of the Constitution of Ukraine (to be unconstitutional) pursuant to Decision of the Constitutional Court of Ukraine No. 6-p(II)/2020 dated 26 June 2020} A bank or other entities that are subject to supervision by the NBU shall have the right to appeal in court, through a procedure prescribed by law, against the decisions, actions or omissions by the NBU or its officials or employees.

Specifics of appealing against the NBU's decisions (individual acts) on declaring the bank insolvent, revocation of the bank's banking license, and the bank's liquidation are specified in the Code of Administrative Court Procedure of Ukraine.

Recognition of an individual act as illegal and cancellation of the act referred to in part one of this Article, or of its selected provisions:

shall not restore the bank's position existing prior to the adoption of such act/decision, the bank's legal status, and the position/rights of the persons that were the bank's shareholders at the moment of the adoption of this act/decision shall not be grounds for declaring void, ineffective, and unlawful and cancelling any decisions, deals or other actions/declaring unlawful omission, adoption, implementation or agreement of actions as part of resolving/liquidating the insolvent bank shall not engender any rights of the persons that were the bank's shareholders at the moment of the adoption of this individual act/decision, save for the right to damages (compensation).

Application of the provisions of this Article and/or damages to the bank's shareholder(s) due to illegal (unlawful) declaring the bank insolvent, revocation of the bank's banking license, and the bank's liquidation, pursuant to Article 79¹ of this Law, shall not relieve the shareholder(s) from civil, administrative or criminal liability for their actions.

Article 79¹. Recovery of Damages to the Bank's Shareholder due to Illegal (Unlawful) Declaring the Bank Insolvent, Revocation of the Bank's Banking License, and the Bank's Liquidation

In the event of recognition of the NBU's decision (individual act) specified in part one of Article 79 of this Law as illegal (unlawful), the person that was the bank's shareholder at the moment of the adoption of this decision (individual act) shall have the right to damages caused by this decision (individual act) in the manner prescribed by law, taking into account the specifics established in this Article.

The burden of proving the inflicted damage and its extent rests with the bank's shareholder.

Compensation for the expectation loss shall be provided in the amount of income that the bank's shareholder could actually receive, save for the NBU's decision, and the decision (individual act) adopted by the NBU was the only and sufficient reason that deprived the shareholder of the possibility to receive it. The expectation loss shall be compensated solely in the event that it was not taken into account when assessing actual losses (shares value).

Actual losses shall be compensated in the amount of the value of the bank's shares on the day of the taking the NBU's decision on declaring the bank insolvent/revocation of the bank's banking license and the bank's liquidation (hereinafter referred to as the resolution day).

The value of the shares is defined in the amount that a buyer, who has all the necessary information and data, would pay on the resolution day for the bank's shares, taking into account the bank's future prospects, the bank's real financial position (including the bank's regulatory capital, liquidity, and assets quality), bank's business model and organizational chart, as well as market conditions and macroeconomic situation.

The value of the shares is estimated in the report on the bank's financial and economic activities, which is produced by the internationally acknowledged audit company that meets the criteria set by the NBU. Such assessment of the bank's financial and economic activities and of the shares value shall be prescribed by the court that considers the case on compensation for the inflicted damage.

The court shall entrust the NBU with responsibility for entering into agreement with the audit company defined by it to assess the bank's financial and economic activities and estimate the shares value.

The plaintiff shall be obliged to deposit the predetermined amount of losses related to carrying out assessment of the bank's financial and economic activities and shares value, in the court's deposit account.

The audit company's report of the bank's financial and economic activities may not be rejected.

The audit company's report of the bank's financial and economic activities shall be treated as opinion of expert examination prescribed in line with procedural laws of Ukraine. This report shall be published on the NBU's official website.

The value of the shares is estimated based on reasonable and realistic assessment in line with the international assessment standards, taking into account the specifics of banks operation (including requirements to the regulatory capital, compliance with which is necessary for continuation of the bank).

If on the resolution day the bank's financial standing as assessed by the audit company showed that the amount of the bank's liabilities exceeded the amount of the bank's assets, it is considered that the bank could not operate continuously (had no prospects to continue its operation), and there was no financial damage. If according to the findings of the audit/assessment it was established that the asset size exceeded the liability size, such excess shall not be sufficient to prove that the financial damage was inflicted.

The procedure for defining the shares value as well as the person that will carry out assessment shall not be subject to provisions of the Law of Ukraine On Valuation of Property, Property Rights, and Professional Appraisal Activity and Article 9 of the Law of Ukraine On Joint Stock Companies.

When assessing the bank's financial and economic activities as of the resolution day, information/data that are known as of the day of such assessment, including information/data obtained after the NBU's decision on declaring the bank insolvent/revoking the banking license/liquidating the bank has been made, shall be taken into account.

To analyze the bank's financial and economic activities as of the resolution day, the audit company shall apply International Financial Reporting Standards to banks.

If in order to stabilize the banking and financial systems, the laws introduced a special regime for the bank's restructuring or recapitalization for a limited period, the bank's compliance with such reduced regulatory requirements during this limited period as well as non-application of sanctions for violation of requirements to the regulatory capital and/or other requirements and indicators shall not be considered sufficient proof of the positive shares value.

To avoid unjust enrichment of the bank's shareholders as a result of taking into account financial support (liquidity, capital increase, guarantees, etc.) provided to the bank by the state (Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine, NBU, and Ministry of Finance of Ukraine) prior to/after the resolution day, appraisal of the shares should be based on the following assumptions:

- 1) On the resolution day, the bank must immediately pay/return any financial support, including stabilization loans, refinancing or other loans extended by the NBU as a lender of last resort, and the bank's financial position should be assessed taking into account the bank's financial losses incurred by it due to making such payments. If the bank would be forced to sell its assets to make the payments and in the absence of any other market indicators, adjustment coefficients for property/guarantees shall be applied to the value of these assets, which are acceptable to ensure the fulfilment of obligations on the repayments of credit provided for emergency liquidity assistance, as well as the procedure for their accounting, established by the NBU as of the resolution day.

2) After the resolution day, no liquidity support (except an access to the NBU standard instruments for liquidity regulation), capital increase, guarantees, programs for asset repurchases or other form of state support will be provided by government authorities (including the NBU and the DGF). If such support was provided de facto, the assessment of the bank's future prospects and indicators should be based on the assumption that such support has not been provided.

Any payment received by the bank's shareholder(s) in the course of the bank's liquidation or as a result of implementing the resolution plan, shall reduce the amount of actual losses by the relevant amount.

Compensation for damage shall be made exclusively in monetary terms. Compensation for damage in any other way, in particular, compensation in kind (transfer of a thing of the same kind and quality) shall not be allowed.
